420formulator

Facial Oil Recipes for Normal Skin

Four simple blends | 100 g batches | All weights in grams

#1 Everyday Softness

For soft, supple skin with comfortable glide.

Apricot Kernel Oil	55 g
Camelina Oil	30 g
Jojoba Oil	14.75 g
Rosemary Antioxidant	0.25 g
Total	100 g

Optional infusion: Apricot Kernel + Camelina + Jojoba.
Weigh 99.75 g after straining and cooling.

#2 Light Daytime Care

A lighter finish. Also useful after shaving.

Tigernut Oil	50 g
Thistle Oil	34.75 g
Squalane	15 g
Rosemary Antioxidant	0.25 g
Total	100 g

Optional infusion: Tigernut + Thistle.
Weigh 84.75 g after straining and cooling.

#3 Silky, Velvety Comfort

For cushioned softness and a velvety finish.

Oat Oil	45 g
Rosehip Seed Oil	30 g
Meadowfoam Seed Oil	24.75 g
Rosemary Antioxidant	0.25 g
Total	100 g

Optional infusion: Oat + Meadowfoam Seed.
Weigh 69.75 g after straining and cooling.

#4 Fuller Evening Care

Richer conditioning with lasting softness.

Macadamia Oil	45 g
Sesame Oil	34.5 g
Kiwi Seed Oil	20 g
Rosemary Antioxidant	0.5 g
Total	100 g

Optional infusion: Macadamia + Sesame.
Weigh 79.5 g after straining and cooling.

Making and using your blend

1. Use clean, completely dry equipment, bottles and scales accurate to 0.25 g.
2. Weigh the oils, add Rosemary Antioxidant and stir thoroughly. No heating is needed for plain blends.
3. Bottle, close and label with the blend name, ingredients and date.
4. Apply a small amount to clean, slightly damp skin. Avoid broken skin and shaving nicks.

With cannabis: Prepare extra infusion in the recipe proportions to allow for oil retained in the plant material. Weigh the cooled amount shown in your panel, then add the remaining ingredients to make 100 g.

Looking after it: Keep water out. Store tightly closed, cool and away from sunlight. Refrigerate delicate stock oils as advised by your supplier. Try a small area first; stop if irritation occurs.

Antioxidant: These weights refer to the specific Rosemary Antioxidant extract used in the article. It slows rancidity; it is neither Rosemary Essential Oil nor an antimicrobial preservative. Blend #4 uses extra protection for delicate Kiwi Seed Oil.